Bob Simpson Winning at the Recent A. A. U.

Sultry weather prevented the Varsity squad from scrimmaging yesterday afternoon. Today the process of elimination starts anew and the scrubs as well as the regulars will work out on one of the competing teams. The freshmen, too, will get a taste of battle today. Coach Miller is to send them through their first scrimmage of the season in an effort to get them into shape for Saturday's game with the Varsity. Until then the two squads will not mix. Secret practice will probably start after this tryout.

The fifty men out for yesterday's practice were sent through some fast drill in running down punts, signal practice, catching forward passes and in doing many other things that go to make a football player. Four teams were put through their paces and with frequent changes in the lineup kept things moving.

Giltner, the only holdover at end, worked continuously at this position yesterday. Bass, a last year's freshman, is giving the other two men, Slusher and Wilder, a hard scrap for the other end of the line. Wilder has barely missed making the team at least twice before and seems to lack nothing except that final something that goes to make a star. He may show that flash of ability this fall.

Slusher showed up well in yesterday's workout. He was a star performer at Wentworth Military Academy three years ago and seems to be regaining his form.

Some Good Men Drop Out of Freshmen Squad.

The freshman squad is losing some of its best men because of their lack of time. Wackher, of whom Miller was expecting great things; McCann, another promising man, and Bryan are some of the men who have been forced to drop their football training. Several others did not show up for practice last night, probably because of failure to straighten out matters with the "war" office.

This afternoon the first-year men are being sent through their first scrimmage. Ewing, Greenwood, Hamren, Shepard, Stone, Weaver, Gardere, Cross and Porter will all get a thorough tryout in the backfield, while Cockshoot, Finecaot, Lee, Ligon, Meyer, Roop and Urie are among the leading candidates for the line positions.

Miller is attempting to develop heavy men for the backfield for use on next year's Varsity. Some former line-men will be given tests behind the line to see if they are fitted for backfield material. Shepard is showing up well as a punter on the freshman squad while Gardere shows signs of ability to drop-kick. Both of these men will get plenty of chance to de-

"Chuck" Wilson, who helped whip last year's team into shape, writes from Texas that he is anxious to get back for the football season, but thinks the chance might be slim just now. The former Tiger football player and captain expects to be released from border duty about November 1.

Haines was booting the ball a good average distance yesterday. A little more weight and this man would be a valuable asset to any team.

Slusher showed up well in yesterday's workout. He was a star performer at Wentworth Military Academy three years ago and seems to be regaining his form.

Williams Jewell Star Enters the University.

Peterson, the sensation of the Missouri Intercollegiate Conference last year, has entered the University and will report for duty this afternoon. Peterson was the star of the champion William Jewell eleven last year and with a year's experience on the freshman football squad should make a good man for the Tigers next year. In addition to being a 10-second man he has ability to sidestep and dodge while running at full speed.

Viner, former Central High School star in Kansas City, is out for a backfield position and in spite of his lack of weight is showing good form. If he is as good at the gridiron game as he is on the court he will be hard to keep out of the regular line-up.

TELLS FRESHMEN TO WORK

Dr. J. W. Hudson Makes First Monday Night Forum Talk.

Be a well-rounded man, acquire a cosmopolitan attitude, take your gloves off and work, was the message to the men of the freshman class by Dr. J. W. Hudson, professor of philosophy, in his talk on "The University Man and His Ideals" in the University Auditorium last night. The Rev. Madison A. Hart, pastor of the Christian Church, Erskine Longfellow, chairman of the student forum committee, and Morris Dry, vice-president of the Y. M. C. A. talked to the new men.

The early part of the meeting was well attended by both men and women, but when Dean Walter Miller, who presided at the meeting, announced that it was not called as a mass meeting but for the benefit of the men, the room was soon left with only men to hear. There was a mistake in the announcements.

CATCH ALLEGED FORGERS

Dudley White and Thomas McGraw Held Under $300 Bond.

Dudley White, 312 Sexton Road, and Thomas McGraw of Centralia, were arrested yesterday and charged with forgery. At a preliminary hearing before Justice Bicknell, they were bound over to circuit court and held under a $300 bond. Both are in the county jail.

McGraw is charged with writing the check and White is accused of cashing it at the New York Store. When C. O. Selder, the proprietor, found the check was fraudulent, he called the police. Policeman W. R. Miller learned from a taxicab office that the White boy and his father had taken a car to their home. After being taken to the police station the police say White confessed.

CIVIC LEAGUE TAKES UP TYPHOID

Improvement of Broadway and Better "Movies" Discussed at Meeting.

The Columbia Civic League this afternoon discussed typhoid fever and its prevention at its regular meeting. Mrs. W. E. Muns led the discussion. At later meetings, the following topics will be discussed: Fall planting, Carnegie library, motion pictures, vaudeville, city clean-up, civic center and weeds.

The Child Welfare League, which is allied with the Civic League, has no definite plans, as its chairman, Mrs. L. L. Bernard, has not returned from her vacation.

Through the co-operation of the Civic League with other City organizations this fall, two things at least are in store for Columbia: a beautiful Broadway and better motion pictures. Mrs. W. E. Harshe, president, announces that the League will co-operate with other organizations, notably men's, to make Columbia's longest street a beautiful and useful highway. According to Mrs. Harshe, women's clubs all over Missouri, are called on to beautify the highways, and since Broadway is touched at both ends by cross country roads, it should be improved as much as possible.

McDANIELS IS REFUSED BAIL

Accused Prosecutor Plans to Conduct Own Case at Preliminary Hearing.

By UNITED PRESS.
ST. JOSEPH, Mo., Sept. 26. — Refused bail when arraigned, charged with murdering his wife, County Prosecutor Oscar McDaniels today planned to conduct his own case at the preliminary hearing tomorrow.

Although the charge of first-degree murder is not bailable, McDaniels plans to bring such an array of influential friends into court ready to go his bond that even though he is refused bail such a showing would have a good effect on public sentiment.

When McDaniels was refused bail he was transferred from the city jail to the county jail, isolated from the other prisoners and confined to the hospital ward because many of the prisoners in the county jail have been prosecuted by him.

With only a little more than a month remaining before the election, the special prosecutor today declared that the verdict probably would not be reached before the prisoner goes before the county for re-election as county prosecutor, but Prosecutor Lockwood promised to expedite the case.

WOMEN DISCUSS NEW BUILDING

Suggestions Made for Home-Coming Week At the University.

The Association of Collegiate Alumnae met in Room 119 Academic Hall this afternoon, at which time plans for a home-coming week at the University were discussed. It was suggested to have this home-coming sometime during the fall football season that alumnae might be able to see student life at its best. The association also made arrangements for conferring with the state federation of woman's clubs regarding a woman's building for the University.

Missouri University has been recognized as a member of the National Association of Collegiate Alumnae for the last eight years. Women who hold at least an A. B. degree from a recognized list of universities are eligible for membership. There were seventy members of the branch here in Columbia last year. Mrs. Walter Miller is president, Mrs. A. H. R. Fairchild, vice-president, Miss Louise Nardin, secretary and Miss Eva Johnston, councilor for the University. This afternoon's meeting was the first held this year.

If she is stopped from acting as representative for Stix-Baer-Fuller of St. Louis, Mrs. Murry hopes to handle goods for Marshall Field & Company of Chicago, which would constitute inter-state commerce and prevent interference by any local organization.
